

Statement of the services and disclaimer

The laboratories belonging to the EuroClonality Consortium will use their best efforts to provide "Advisory Services" fully in accordance with all applicable rules, regulations and academic standards. The Advisory Services include advise on PCR-based clonality diagnostics during EuroClonality Educational Workshops, during national or international conferences, via the EuroClonality website, via e-mail correspondence, or via any other oral or written communication. The Advisory Services are rendered under the express condition that nothing shall be construed as a guarantee that the use of the Advisory Services will be useful for any particular purpose. The Advisory Services are investigational in nature, hence that the Services are limited to "best efforts" only. As a consequence hereof the EuroClonality Consortium or any of its members cannot and shall not be held liable for any claims or damages by the party requesting the Advisory Services or any third party, in connection with or as a result of the Advisory Services. The party requesting the Advisory Services undertakes to indemnify and hold harmless the EuroClonality Consortium and its individual members at all times against all of such damages or claims, except in case of gross negligence or willful misconduct on the side of the party providing the Advisory Services.